

The process of generating the prediction vector F

